
HAWAII'S AGING NETWORK

In Hawaii, there is a statewide system of programs and services that responds to the issues of aging, the system is called the Aging Network. The Aging Network is composed of four major parts:

- State Unit on Aging
- Area Agencies on Aging
- Service Providers
- Recipients of Services

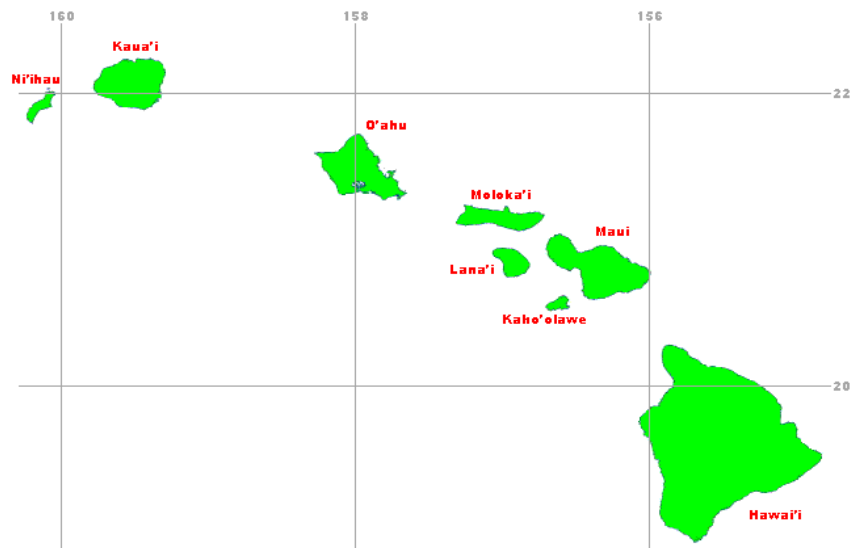

State Unit on Aging: EOA is the designated State agency charged with the responsibility of administering the OAA, as amended in 2000, in Hawaii. EOA is the state agency responsible for developing a State plan to be submitted to the Assistant Secretary for Aging, U.S. Administration on Aging, administering the State Plan, and being primarily responsible for the planning, policy development, administration, coordination, priority setting, and evaluation of all state activities related to the OAA, as amended in 2000.

Chapter 349 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes established the PABEA. This Governor-appointed citizens committee assists EOA by advising on the development and administration of the State Plan, the identification of issues and alternative approaches to solutions, advocacy and legislative actions, and program development.

Area Agencies on Aging: The OAA requires EOA to divide the state into planning and service areas (PSAs). EOA divided the state into four distinct planning and service areas:

- PSA #1: County of Kauai
- PSA #2: City and County of Honolulu
- PSA #3: County of Maui
- PSA #4: County of Hawaii.

Kalawao County on the island of Molokai, currently under the administrative jurisdiction of the State DOH, is included in the Maui PSA. Molokai and Lanai are also part of the PSA.

EOA designated AAA in each of the planning and service areas.
They are:

- Kauai Agency on Elderly Affairs

The AAA are the leaders relative to all aging issues on behalf of older persons in the planning and service area. AAA are responsible for implementing OAA programs at the local level. They carry out a wide range of functions related to advocacy, planning, coordination, interagency linkages, information sharing, brokering, monitoring and evaluation, designed to lead to the development or enhancement of comprehensive and coordinated community based systems in, or serving, each community in the planning and service area.

Each AAA has an advisory council. The council advises the agency on matters relating to developing and administering the area plan, conducting public hearings, reviewing and commenting on all community policies, programs, and actions which affect older adults with the intent of assuring maximum coordination and responsiveness to older persons.

Service Providers: The Aging Network also includes organizations that provide direct services to elders; are higher education institutions; and receive funds under the OAA.

Recipients of Services: These are older adults 60 years and older and their caregivers to whom the Aging Network serves.

Aging Network Operations: EOA receives funds from the U.S. Administration on Aging under Title III of the OAA. Based on an approved intrastate funding formula, these funds are allocated to the four AAA. EOA also receives funds from the State Legislature for aging services. These funds are also allocated to the AAA. The AAA contract Federal and State funds to a network of service providers who deliver a variety of services at the local level. In addition, EOA receives Title VII funds from the OAA and other federal grants to carry out elder rights and benefits programming.

The following provides a review of the types of programs and services that are made available through Federal and State funding.

Access to Services:

- Information and Assistance*
- Outreach
- Case Management
- Transportation

In-Home, Community Based, Supportive Services:

- Attendant Care
- Personal Care
- Homemaker/Housekeeper
- Chore
- Home Delivered Meals
- Adult Day Care/Health
- Congregate Meals
- Nutrition Counseling
- Health and Nutrition Education
- Assisted Transportation
- Legal Assistance
- Caregiver Support Services

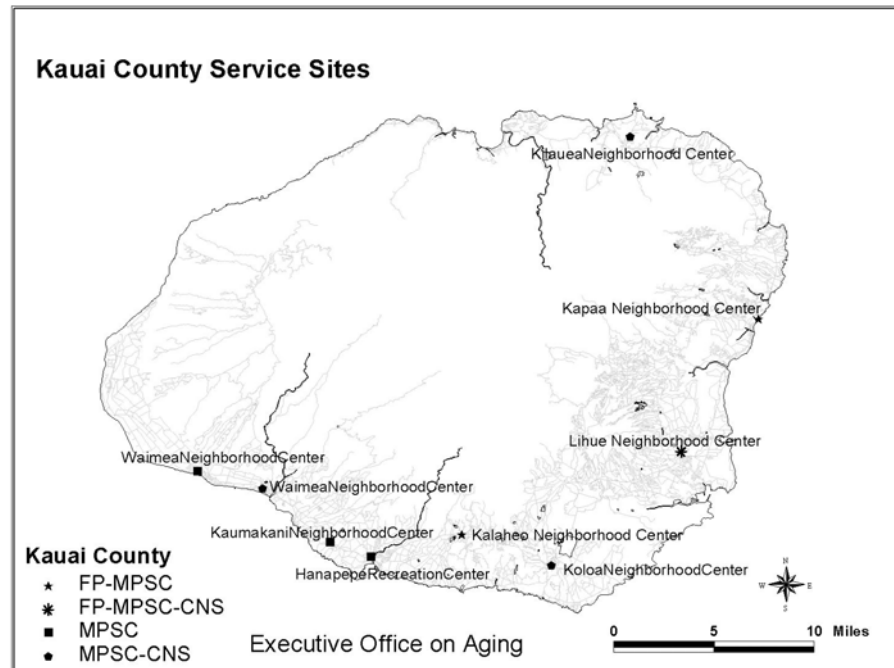

Elder Rights and Benefits:

- Long Term Care Ombudsman Program
- Preventing Elder Abuse and Neglect Program
- SAGE PLUS (Health Benefits and Counseling program)
- SAGE WATCH (Fraud, Waste and Abuse Prevention program)
- Legal Assistance Development Program

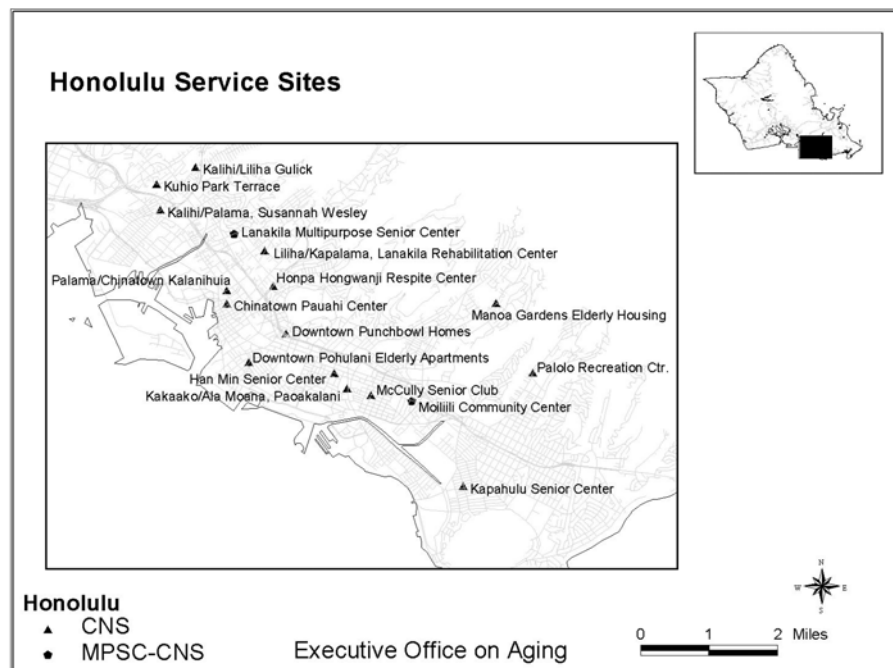

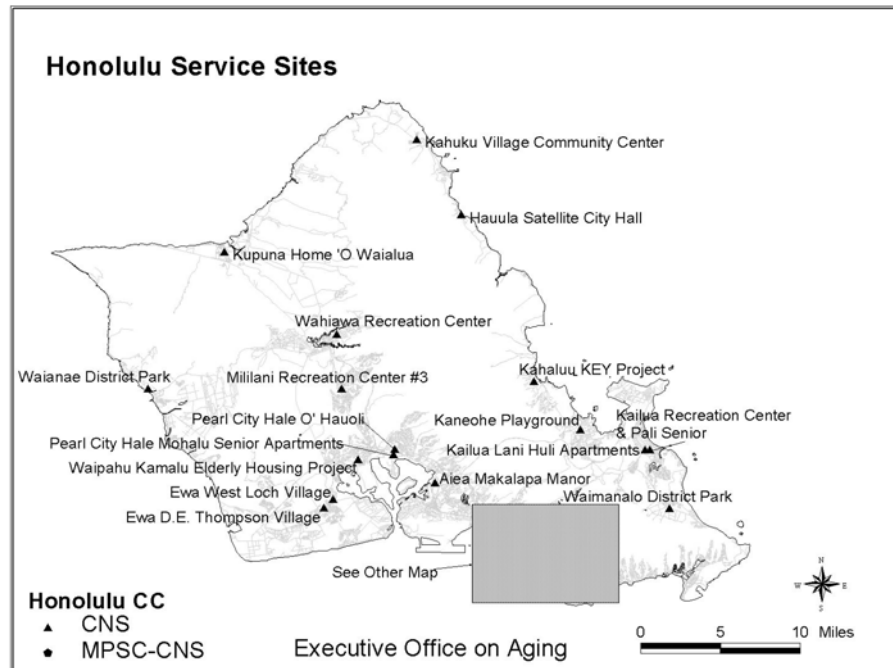

Older adults and their families can tap into these services through focal points -- access points where individuals can receive information, assistance, and supportive services. The AAAs serve as focal points. In addition, there are other focal points available in the community. The following provides a geographic review of focal points, multipurpose senior centers, and nutrition sites.

*All four AAA directly provide information and assistance services. With the exception of Hawaii County Office of Aging, the AAA also provide outreach.

Kauai Agency on Elderly Affairs directly provides case management services.

Funding Levels: Between 1996 and 2001, the Aging Network felt the impacts of reductions in State funding. On a per capita basis, allocations decreased from 1996 to 2001 and gradually returned to near 1996 level in 2002. Funding, however, did not keep pace with the demand for services. Federal funding exceeded the 1995 allocations and supported the filling of gaps in the delivery of services.

Budget Allocations (in millions)

| Year | State | Federal | Total |
|------|-------|---------|-------|
| 1995 | 6.8 | 5.8 | 12.7 |
| 1996 | 6.2 | 5.3 | 11.5 |
| 1997 | 5.0 | 5.7 | 10.7 |
| 1998 | 4.6 | 5.8 | 10.4 |
| 1999 | 4.9 | 5.9 | 10.7 |
| 2000 | 4.9 | 6.5 | 11.4 |
| 2001 | 5.1 | 5.9 | 11.0 |
| 2002 | 6.1 | 6.8 | 12.9 |

Prioritization of Services for Funding

EOA and AAA engaged in processes to determine which issues are given priority considerations. The AAA applied a two-part prioritization process in their planning service areas. First, they prioritized issues and areas of concern. Second, they determined funding priorities for programs and services by following the criteria: Title III priorities are met; older adults with greatest economic need, older individuals with greatest social need, low income minority, and older individuals residing in rural areas are served; priority needs are addressed; potential benefit to cost is great; and probability of program/service success is high. Appendix A provides a summary of the prioritization results.
